Ikea Catalogue Ikea delivered to the door - mail marketing catalog Ikea At its peak, the Ikea catalogue was said to have a greater circulation than that of the Bible. But while about 40m copies of the Bible are expected to be distributed around the world next year, the catalog of the Swedish furniture giant after seven decades will no longer be published because demand has fallen. "It has been one of our most well-known and dearest products for 70 years, inspiring billions of people around the world," said an Ikea manager, Konrad Grüss, in a statement. As fewer and fewer people were reading, leading to the decision to "respectfully finish the successful career of the Ikea catalogue appeared in 1950 only in Swedish. There were 16 pages long and listed all company products, accompanied by simple black and white drawings. A year later, he had expanded to 68 pages, reunited by the founder of Ikea, Ingvar Kamprad, with a brown upholstered rocking chair on his front cover. About 285,000 copies were distributed, but only in southern Sweden. It guickly became an annual insight into contemporary modern life and a Bible in its own right for lovers of flat package furniture. Some libraries even carry back copies of the catalog, which became a collector's item. The magazine has been available online since 1998, but while the online version gradually made the role an obsolete, it will also be discontinued, Grüss said. The decision is part of a long-term company a a moc radil atnet euq zev amu Competition he faces a growing number of motivable startups that are biting in his jumps. Its own commons online increasingly options to create their spaces digitally, especially using augmented reality to project images of moments on the walls of their homes. In the fall of 2021, Ikea plans a tribute to her cathomist in the form of a book with inspiring tips and ideas for DIY interior design. Although conversations about the future of the Cathalogue were ongoing for four years, Britt said that the final decision was made in the last months, since the discussions about a 2022 edition were in course. Circulation reached a peak in 2016, when 200m Copies in 32 different languages were distributed worldwide. Cathhalog is often quoted next to Bablia, the alcohron books and Harry Potter in terms of a total number of printed cypions, but Grands said he was not sure if the upper point had claimed. Ikea this year's edition of Ikea's Cathhalog, in the form of a special manual to celebrate his 70th birthday. Sometimes they come when you wait, and just like many times, when you do not do it, "says Ikea. The transactions for what is close to our lives in constant change. Working at home as a result of the coronavirus pandemic â € "they require new ways of thinking, new perspectives, new hions, new ideas and new solutions. Created as a manual, full of smart tips, practical ideas and as guides to help us create a better home that needs to be complicated, expensive or time consuming. The manual was described as an inspirational containment and knowledge to create a better life at home, and aims to inspire people living healthier and more sustainablely too. There is a focus on small spaces, compact life and small budgets.' Life at home has been as important as it is today. We know that to most people living. It's not always a choice or just a temporary thing. More people living is synonymous with small space living. It's not always a choice or just a temporary thing. Manager, Ikea Communications. 'That's why most of the solutions featured in this year's catalogue are accessible for people with small budgets and for small spaces. 'Now 70 years old, the first annual Ikea home furnishing catalogue was published in Sweden in 1950. Like this article?
